

Returning Veterans Project

free counseling and other health services for returning veterans and their families

Lewis & Clark
Graduate School of Education and Counseling

"The Heart and Science of Treating Traumatic Response in Veterans"

A Continuing Education Training presented by the Returning Veterans Project and sponsored by the Lewis & Clark Graduate School of Education and Counseling

Dr. Livia M. D'Andrea, Ph.D., M.F.T, Trainer

Lewis and Clark College, South Campus Conference Center (Gate 7)
0615 S.W. Palatine Hill Road, Portland, Oregon 97219

Saturday, May 12, 2012, 9:00 am to 1:00 pm (registration at 8:30 am)

4 CEUs available for LPC, LMFT and LCSW, other mental health practitioners, check with your licensing board

Tuition is free for RVP Providers and VA and Vet Center Staff

"The Heart and Science of Treating Traumatic Response in Veterans" is a workshop that will blend research findings with anecdotal information about intuitive, creative interventions learned over the course of thousands of hours of treating traumatic responses in veterans. The presentation will include case examples, discussion, and case conceptualizations.

About the Trainer

Dr. D'Andrea is a professor of statistics and counseling at the University of Nevada, Reno. She has been conducting research on the effects of EMDR on trauma response for the past 14 years. She is a member of the Nevada regional Critical Incident Debriefing Team, and a consultant for the Reno Veteran's Center. She has a private practice in Reno specializing in treating traumatic reactions.

More information coming soon!